London, W.11.

25 July 1978

Dear Mr. Exelby- Bramley,

I have the copy you sent me of your letter to Sir Geoffrey Howe. All I can say is were you not to exist it would be necessary to invent you.

Yours sincerely,

Horace Cutler.

Letter to the Frestonian Minister of State for the Enviroment from Sir Horace Cutler, leader of the UK's Greater London Council, who were intent on ravaging Frestonia.
Frestonia replied to this letter that "since we do exist, why is it necessary to destroy us?"
